

Lord (Jeffrey) Muntevans (The Lord Muntevans of Chelsea)
Chairman, Maritime London, Vice- Chairman of Maritime UK & Chairman of Maritime Growth Study

Lord Muntevans is the Chairman of Maritime London, the promotional body for the UK-based maritime professional services providers.

He is also Vice-Chairman of Maritime UK, which brings together the shipping, ports and maritime business services sectors in the UK to speak with a single voice on key strategic and practical issues of joint interest so that the maritime message can be heard clearly and with greater weight by legislators and other audiences. He is currently chairing the UK government's Maritime Growth Study: keeping the UK competitive in a global market.

Lord Muntevans is a member of the House of Lords since 2015. He served as the 688th Lord Mayor of the City of London (November 2015 – November 2016) and was Alderman of the City of London for many years until recently. His business career has been with the leading international shipbroker Clarksons, where he was Managing Director, Gas.
