

Richard Greiner

Honorary Treasurer, Maritime London
Liaison, Maritime London Officer Cadet Scholarship

Richard Greiner, formerly a partner in accounting practice, has more than 40 years' experience in providing assurance and advisory services to the shipping and offshore maritime industries.

Working principally in the United Kingdom and European Union as well as the Middle East, Richard's work has covered due diligence investigations, audits and financial reporting to local and international standards, business planning, tax structures, privatisations, and shipping finance transactions, including both newbuildings and second-hand vessels.

Richard is a regular speaker at shipping and ship finance conferences and seminars and has written articles and papers on shipping finance and accounts. He created and managed OpCost for more than 20 years, which was widely regarded as the leading ship operating costs benchmark. He is a trustee of the Maritime London Officer Cadet Scholarship, a director of Maritime London and a board member of the OSCAR campaign.
